

Terri: Do you get the idea that something is being covered up?

Ted: Absolutely. Covering up is a great American tradition. It happens all the time without us even being aware of it.

Terri: Hmm. Without transparency how can there be democracy?

Ted: Don't be naive – democracy only works if participants have approximately equal power and also adequately informed. Those conditions rarely, if ever, exist.

- T Newfields

Begun: 1993 in Shizuoka, Japan ⚡ Finished: 2020 in Yokohama, Japan

