Terri: There's a peep show going on in Washington. Kris: (nodding) I know & it's utterly obscene. Sam: (in jest) Ah? There aren't any naked people? Kris: Just the opposite: many attempts at cover up. Tim: Gee? How can I play? Sam: Sorry - only a limited number of players are permitted. Which means? Tim: Sam: You need at least ten million & influential friends to start. Tim: Hmm. Maybe I'm not cut out fer dis game, but why are you telling me? (shrugging his shoulders) Why not? Does anything Sam: we say really matter?