

TO TEACH:

Some Thoughts about Andragogy

Unless you learn to reach you will never teach.

Teaching is a process of sharing, interacting & bonding.

Teaching is never a one-way street;
it is a vigorous interpersonal activity.

It is much more than a question of formula or technique;
it is creating multi-dimensional sculptures that are constantly evolving.

Teachers must profess
yet not preach;
they must listen closely
yet also know when to speak.

Ultimately
who you are is what you will teach & in the process
you'll become a different being.
