

WHOA THERE!

An Exposé of Some Social Injustices

Yep, I can tell you why so many people are starving or addictive chemicals are consumed.

I know precisely why war rages across so many parts of our planet or why millions of people are being screwed.

The needs of the many matter little.

what counts are the profits of the few!

In the dark night of our souls,
we've forgotten about global stewardship
or long-term sustainability, focussing instead on short-term pay offs
accruing to the glitterati.

Nadia: (yawning) Moral lectures are boring.

Will: Yep! And they are ineffectual. Very few people change their behaviors as result of lectures.

Wan-Sze: (perplexed) What will it take for us to wake up? The current course does not seem sustainable. . . .

Kasim: (half in jest, half in earnest) Well, perhaps the wrath of God might do some good!

- T Newfields

Begun: 2018 in Yokohama, Japan ☆ Finished: 2018 in Yokohama, Japan

