

Ron : Is human life merely like a child's play and our existence akin to a mayfly's brief day?

Linda : (chuckling) Well, it certainly seems that way.

Lis : (half in jest) But isn't there any grand epiphany? Are our lives merely brief buffets whose victuals are certain to swiftly decay?

Linda : (baffled) Are you looking to me for answers?

Lis : Well, I'm asking for an opinion.
