

Lit-A-Rupture: A Post Literary Construction

USEFUL MYTHS?

In Memory of Aldous Huxley (1894-1963)

Every day is sunny.
It is so beautiful here.

No problems exist –
just learning opportunities.
Bliss is forever near.

We live without regrets in each moment & are filled with energy & love.

There are no mistakes – only points to reconsider.

Citizens are so grateful to the Alpha+ Controllers

who have engineered
this Perfect Infosphere

thanks to their deep insights
we have far gone beyond all fear.

Juanita: Well, if your speech is being monitored, isn't this what would would say?

Jack: It depends on who is doing the monitoring.

Ella: (Sighing) All of us are being monitored. That's a reality of Internet life.

Shu: So do you have anything significant to say?

Ella: (Surprised) Significant? If you want to hear something significant, read Adi Shankara's Upadeśasāhasri. Compared to that, I merely offer trash.
