

WAYS TO PROMOTE PEACE:

Some Propositions for Promoting Non-Violence

Satoru: Doesn't this seem cynical to you?

Ying: (shaking her head) No. It seems realistic.

Dmiritri: So many utopian schemes have been tried so far! The sad truth is small-scale wars are profitable for a few - though many people suffer.

Satoru: Perhaps so, but with technological advances today, even small-scale conflicts can quickly become large-scale.

Frida: Yep. I would be surprised if our species lasts more than a hundred years. We are too clever for our own good, and also too foolish for our long-term survival.
