

PEACEMAKING: Approaching peace step-by-step

- T Newfields [Nitta Hirou / Huáng Yuèwǔ]

Begun: 1998 in Shizuoka, Japan / Finished: 2016 in Xīn-Táiběi, Taiwan

- Satoru: This talk of 'embracing strangers' sounds good, but is it possible? Is human nature so magnanimous?
- Ying: Well, talk is certainly easier than action. At the same time, why expect the worst from others?
- Dmiritri: Why expect anything? Expectations sow the seeds of frustration.
- Frida: Personally, I think expectations are hard-wired into our operating system. We can't expect people to relinquish their expectations.
- Pixxâkiû: Haven't humans been seeking peace since the dawn of time?
- AR3<sup>X</sup><sub>108</sub>: Who knows? One thing is certain: that word gets a lot of lip service.