

FLYING NINJA:

An accolade to mosquitos

Real ninja stick to the point and get down to business without wasting time.

They seize opportunity
when it appears
and aren't intimidated
by strength or size.

Real ninja
don't need swords or armor:
necessity drives them on!

They are like
mosquitoes at night
laughing
when hands clap
then vanishing
from sight

One with
darkness:
warm flesh
gives them
eyes

.

- T Newfields [Nitta Hirou / Huáng Yuèwǔ].

Begun: 1994 in Shizuoka, Japan ≙ Finished: 2005 in Tokyo, Japan

Creative Commons License: Attribution. {{CC-BY-4.0}} Granted

