

Dolphin song:

Some thoughts about our cetacean cousins

Philyra: I can relate to this poem.

Soo: I like the way the author contrasts economic realities the ethics.

Elijah: Ethical imperatives must carry more weight than economic expedience.

Jules: Isn't that idealistic? Can we ever ignore the economic engines moving humans?

Ellesha: What about spiritual forces are at work? Won't they have more far far-ranging impact than mundane market forces?
