

DRIFT NETS:

Some thoughts about harvesting on marine life

- Philyra: This is a perfect poem: it says nothing directly, yet hints at just enough that readers can construct various possible meanings.
- Ellesha: At times the boundary between art & poetry seems obscure – it's hard to say whether pictorial poems are art or literature.
- Soo: Anyway, the colors are nice.
- Elijah: To me, the whole thing is senseless ...

- Jules: Perfect poem? Tu rigoles! [then whispering "Gim'me a break" in a Franco-American accent]
- Andrei: Relax. Za human capacity for bullshit is amusing ...
