

THE GIFT OF DREAMS:

Some reflections on dream-weaving

Hold your dreams lightly –
they are precious things.

Do not give them up quickly or discard them too easily.

Dreams are the thread of your future –
the kernel that shapes destiny.

They allow us to pursue new directions and nurture fresh possibilities.

The visions we cherish today
create countless tomorrows –

Your most precious gifts are your dreams.

Gwen: I admire the Don Quixotes who hold onto their dreams while others give up.

Tara: Yeah, history would be quite different without bold dreamers.

Noel: Indeed. Still, isn't it sobering to realize that only a small fraction of our dreams actually come true?
