

THE JOURNEY CONTINUES: The Philosophy of Motion

Lily: What journey is the aut

Lex: Is it metaphorical or me?

Ron: Is there any differen taphors.

Ram: Maybe, but in one sense spiritua of playing. You are controlled by more metaphors realize.

Ron: We only have one lifetime - where's the journey in that?

Linda: Many lifetimes can be experienced in one birth.

Ron: Do you actually believe such hogwash?

Ram: In fact, so-called ordinary reality is mos hogwash . . . there are states of consciousness far be d ordinary affairs.

Linda: Anyway, the idea there is some spiritu we need to take seems like a relatively harmless myth.

Ron: No myth is harmless. There is a price for each sweet 'truth' - our minds become contaminated wit al truths.

Lex: (sighing) No motion – no philosophy.

Ron: That might be a blessing in disguise.
